Wall Around Your Heart - Bluegrass Album Band

```
C                 Am   F                 C
Stone must be the wall built around your heart
C                Am               D7               G
I still love you darlin', but the time has come to part
C               Am                F                   C
No more sorrow, no more pain, can enter this heart of mine.
C                  Am                     F     G       C   G
Life isn't long in this old world let the past stay behind.
C                    Am         F              C
I once had a darling Sweetheart and I loved her so.
C                    Am      D7                G
I love her more than I never make my poor heart show.
    C                Am          F                   C
And she ran away and left me she would find somebody else.
C               Am                F       G    C   G
Left me here in this old world to cry all to myself.
C                 Am   F                 C
Stone must be the wall built around your heart
C                Am               D7               G
I still love you darlin', but the time has come to part
C               Am                F                   C
No more sorrow, no more pain, can enter this heart of mine.
C                  Am                     F     G       C   G
Life isn't long in this old world let the past stay behind.

C                   Am              F                 C
I know somewhere in this old world there is a girl for me
C                  Am              D7            C
She don't long for wealth and fame just love and sympathy.
C                       Am   F               C
I don't know where she lives maybe across the sea.
                  Am            F        G         C
But the walls of Jericho can't keep her away from me.
   D              Bm   G                 D
Stone must be the wall built around your heart.
D                Bm               E7               A
I still love you darlin', but the time has come to part.
D               Bm                G                   D
No more sorrow, no more pain, can enter this heart of mine.
D                  Bm                     G     A       D
Life isn't long in this old world let the past stay behind.
D                  Bm                     G     A       D
Life isn't long in this old world let the past stay behind.
